

As I was waiting for Dylan outside of Ballydoyle, a friend of mine came up and said she was on her way to go buy donuts for her whole high school history class. When she said donuts – Star went BONKERS!!! He started jumping up and down, barking, wagging his tail, and running in circles!!! I think I had it all wrong!!! All along, I thought that Star loved bacon because of what I had in my hand when he stopped me outside of Anderson's and started begging – but it turns out he loves something even more than bacon ...

AND ... STOP!!! Time to solve the mystery!!!
